

Train and certify with confidence.

Learn with a PMI® Authorized Training Partner

Choose trusted, official training and certification prep built by PMI and delivered by expert instructors.

PMI Authorized Training Partner (ATP) courses are designed to keep you accountable, meet certification requirements, and help you feel confident and prepared for exam day—and beyond.

Why choose a PMI® Authorized Training Partner (ATP)?

ATPs are the only providers approved by PMI to deliver official, PMI-developed instructor-led training content and certification prep. With an ATP, you get a proven learning path—not guesswork—supported by expert guidance, structure, and accountability.

Official training

Learn from PMI-developed course content that aligns directly to the certification exam and PMI standards. ATP courses meet certification requirements, so you know you're learning what's needed.

Expert instructors

Get real-time explanations, practical examples, and guidance from certified instructors that builds understanding and confidence you can't get from self-guided study alone.

Structured learning

A clear study plan and live, instructor-led format that keeps you focused, accountable, and on track. With scheduled sessions, support, and check-ins, you make steady progress.

Trusted providers

Train with organizations officially approved by PMI to deliver exam prep. ATP organizations can be easily found and verified through the PMI Authorized Training Partner directory on PMI.org.

The advantage of instructor-led learning

Instructor-led training helps you stay focused, motivated, and prepared by offering:

- Real-time guidance and answers to keep you moving forward
- Interactive discussions that deepen understanding beyond self-study
- Accountability and structure through a consistent learning rhythm
- Peer support and networking with professionals on a similar path
- Reinforced learning with practice, feedback, and instructor support

The value of authorized training

- Official PMI-developed content—not third-party interpretations
- Alignment to certification requirements and PMI standards
- Vetted, credible instructors you can trust
- A transparent and verifiable provider experience
- Confidence that your preparation reflects what PMI actually teaches and assesses

Gain trust in your training path

Unlike independent or non-authorized providers, PMI Authorized Training Partners are held to quality, content, and instructor standards that protect your investment and ensure you're truly learning what PMI assesses and meet educational requirements for certification.
